

Alien Encounter Socks

by Benita Story (c) 2016

All was quiet one dark night. The country side was at peace with no hint of the event to come.

Suddenly, there was a light in the sky. Then more lights. Red, blue, green and yellow lights began to flash from one specific area of the sky. Soon the lights grew larger and flashed more frequently and brilliantly.

A young farmer and his wife stood on their back porch and watched the lights as they grew closer and closer. They spoke in whispers to one another about the lights and what they could mean. Soon, the lights were surrounded by a golden shape – a space ship!!!

The space ship landed in the field next to their house. The lights continued to flash, but they had settled into a repeating rhythm that somehow soothed the couple watching them. Before long, a door in the bottom of the ship opened and a ladder descended from the door. Then, one by one, three space people climbed down the ladder and approached the couple who were watching them from the safety of their porch.

The largest alien was the least afraid and came forward to speak with the couple. The other two aliens stood behind with shock and wonder on their faces. For just a little while, both groups just stood and stared at one another, until the farmer spoke.

“Hello. My name is John.”

The aliens looked at one another, and then the larger alien turned back to the couple and said something that sounded like a mixture of squeaks, beeps and tones. Then the alien smiled.

The couple smiled back and motioned for the aliens to step into the house. They showed the aliens around their home, showing off the bedrooms, the kitchen, the coffee maker, the microwave, and TV. When they came to the computer on the desk in the living room, the aliens’ faces all lit up and they talked among themselves. Then the largest alien pulled a square object from a pouch and showed the couple a picture of Saturn with one of the moons highlighted.

The farmer and his wife realized what the aliens were trying to show them. They had come from that moon, which orbited the planet Saturn. How they had managed to keep themselves from being discovered by the NASA probes was a miracle, or else the aliens had taken care not to be discovered.

The farmer gave the aliens some of the fruit from their own trees and the aliens motioned for the couple to follow them. They led them out to the space ship and motioned for them to go up the ladder. At first, the couple hesitated, but then they decided it was the polite thing to do since they had given the aliens a tour of their own home.

The aliens introduced the couple to the others on board to ship and took them on a tour, showing off the sleeping quarters, where they made food and ate, and showed them all manner of items of which the couple could not guess the use.

At the end of the tour, the alien who seemed to be the captain and with whom they had communicated gave them some of the aliens' food and helped them down the ladder to the ground. He walked them back to their porch, spoke to them in his language and the couple said "Good-bye" and "Come again soon" to the alien as the alien returned to his own ship. The alien smiled at them, then climbed back up the ladder to his ship.

The ladder was pulled up and the door of the space ship closed. The bright flashing lights began to flash brighter and faster and the ship slowly ascended into the night sky. After one brilliant burst of light, the ship zoomed away. The couple looked at one another in awe and walked back into the house.

The next morning, there were news helicopters flying over the farm and news station trucks parked in the driveway. There were police cars with lights flashing and black SUVs with darkly tinted windows parked by the barn. And all of them were looking at the field where the aliens' space craft had landed the night before. When the farmer and his wife looked out their second-floor bedroom window at the activity, they saw what everyone was looking at. In the hayfield, an alien script had been burned into the ground. The men in the black SUVs took lots of photographs and soil samples while the police made the news crews and news helicopters leave. No one came to talk with the couple as they watched from their bedroom window.

Soon, everyone left and all was quiet again. The couple quietly came down and went out to the field and looked at the message left for them. As they walked among the alien script, they both felt at peace and happy. They knew it was a thank you from the aliens for letting them come to visit.

The farmer's wife went back to the house and brought out the food the aliens gave them, and they buried it in the field among the message. From that point forward, anything that was put into that field grew into the best possible. Sheep had the best fleeces, cows gave the most milk, horses ran the fastest, and crops grew to be the largest and most nutritious.

The farm couple never saw the aliens again, and they never spoke to anyone about their experience. But they never forgot the night the people of one of Saturn's moons came to pay them a visit. It was the highlight of their lives. But they would stand and stare at the stars above them and wonder if the aliens were standing in their own backyards staring up at that little dot in the sky that they had once visited. The stars would never be the same to those who met that dark and quiet night on that little blue planet so close to their star.

The End

Yarn used is by Brenda and Heather Yarns (www.brendaandheatheryarns.cm) Fluffy Feet base in the following colors:

Midnight Abduction - Approximately 60 grams
Alien Heart - Approximately 25 grams
Light in the Sky - Approximately 30 grams
Roswell Green - Approximately 25 grams

Gauge: 9 rows and 5 stitches = 1 inch.

Size US2 needles, either set of 5 dpns or 8" or 9" circular such as Addi or Hiya Hiya.

Cast on 72 stitches in a cable cast-on either over two needles, over a needles 2 sizes larger, or using a super stretchy cast on, and join in the round making sure the stitches are not twisted. Begin knitting row one of Chart One for the leg.

When you have completed Chart Two - The Heel Flap and Heel Turn, continue using Midnight Abduction yarn, and pick up the 16 slipped stitches along the side of the heel flap, knit along the instep, then pick up and knit the 16 slipped stitches along the other side of the heel flap. Then knit the first 6 stitches of the 12 remaining stitches of the heel turn. This will bring you back to the center back and the beginning of the first round of Chart Three. Place marker and begin Chart Three at this point.

This sock is written for a women's size US6-8 foot. If your foot is longer than 9 inches, before you begin the toe decreases on Chart Three, knit two rows of Midnight Abduction and 2 rows of Roswell Green for every 1/2 inch of needed length. For sizes less than US6, use a kitchner stitch to close the toe after knitting row 72 of the foot (or the right row to fit your foot)

For sizes above US 6, to cast off, simply break off the yarn, leaving at least 12", and, using a tapestry needle, thread the remaining stitches onto the tapestry needle, going around twice. Then pull the opening closed, poke the needle through the center and weave in the end on the wrong side. Weave in all remaining ends. Sock should be hand-washed and either blocked on sock blockers or laid flat to dry.
